

Statement of Rosalind Pike

Taken 6 October. Provided through counsel. Four pages, page 1 reproduced.

I was vice president for compliance at Halvard Industrial Services from March 2015 until my resignation on 3 October. I am making this statement voluntarily.

In late August I was copied on an internal thread in which Miles Trombley, our director of field operations, instructed Glenn Mabey, the fleet manager, to release three company vehicles for a weekend and to record the movement as yard maintenance. The thread was copied to an outside address at a domain I did not recognise, wolfcreekhholdings.example. I objected in writing. Mr Trombley told me to leave it and said Vernon Haight was aware.

I then asked Aubrey Sandoval, our controller, to pull the vendor record for Wolf Creek Holdings LLC. There is no statement of work, no purchase order and no W-9. Every invoice over three years was approved by Mr Trombley alone. The payments increase twice: in March, immediately after we were awarded the county contract, and in July, which is the month the Lattimer Road access badges were issued.

On 26 September I found four contractor badges issued against our county account to names that are not on our payroll. I raised this with Mr Haight on 29 September. He said Mr Trombley “handles the badge programme” and that I should not, in his words, make it into something. I resigned four days later.

I have since been told by a former colleague that Mr Trombley holds a position in a group called the Wolf Creek Constitutional Regiment and that Mr Mabey and at least two of our night-shift staff are members. I have no first-hand knowledge of that group. I am providing the badge log, the vendor extract and the email thread with this statement.

I want to be clear about what I do and do not know. I do not know what our vehicles were used for. I do not know who the four badges were issued to. I know that our access to a water treatment plant and two public buildings was being administered by one person with no oversight, and that I was told twice to stop asking about it.
